We humans have been discovering numbers since the early days of our species. The Ancient Egyptians claimed to have discovered this information from a civilization of Atlanteans that lived more than 200,000 years ago. The true origins of what we are sharing with you are truly unknown to us at this time. This information is now being passed on to you. What you do with it is up to you, but it is limitless in possibility and its potential impact for your life and those you love. May it bless you in all the ways that it has for us.

Love,

Joy + Matt

The Book of Life

Our ancestors created a way of working with the 9 frequencies to accelerate human evolution, to free themselves from unconscious patterns, and to activate their spiritual power. It is said that the ancients were guided by beings that were not from Earth. These beings guided them to understand the Laws of Spirit that were governing Earth and how to use the numbers to master their experience. They were told that they could access peace, love, harmony and prosperity beyond their dreams if they would live by these laws, also known as virtues.

It is believed by some, including the authors, that those who were aware of these numbers but were not activating the higher spiritual meanings became corrupt and greed overtook sanity. They wanted to keep the knowledge of the numbers to themselves so that they could rule over others. They became consumed by the lust for the power that they discovered through this knowledge.

They turned away from the Divine and worshiped themselves instead. They became rulers over others and kept this information exclusive, creating a class system for humans to measure themselves by. Their own spiritual poverty was mirrored throughout humanity in the form of mental, emotional and physical lack of all kinds. As the non-ruling class felt helpless and controlled with no where left to turn, they began to hear the voice of the Divine (God, Universe, Source. Please choose the word that best aligns with your heart) and were guided to take action.

Those who wanted to preserve this information for humanity were guided to enact a plan. They were to create a book of cards that would fit in a pocket, pouch or the palm of a hand. This book of cards would preserve the Laws of Spirit and the Numbers together in a tool that could be used by anyone who knew their meaning. This tool would be disguised as a game so that the ruling class would be none the wiser. You know this game today as a deck of "Playing Cards" that you can purchase from any store for just a few dollars.

As the Ruling Class conquered the hearts and minds of humanity and placed their own laws above the Laws of Spirit the use of Playing Cards was for "entertainment purposes only." The ancient wisdom might have been lost forever if it weren't for a few devoted souls who carried the traditions into modern times. As people witnessed the Playing Cards being used for guidance people attempted to copy the system and improve upon it using more symbols and archetypes. These modern approaches to cards have helped to awaken millions to their Divine nature and ability to speak directly with spirit.

We now find ourselves in a time of spiritual renaissance. We are stripping away the dogma and man-made rules to rediscover the simple truths of spirit. As a result, the Book of Life is making it's way back into the mainstream consciousness of humanity. We have devoted much of our lives in service to sharing the wisdom of the Book of Life with those who have been called to hear.

In This Booklet..

In this booklet we are sharing with you the tip of the iceberg of what this system can reveal. Our intention is to help you access the symbolism that can connect you more deeply to your most aligned self and inspire you to share it with others. In the pages that follow we will teach you to interpret the Book of Life and Healer's Code for the purposes of card interpretation. The interpretations we am sharing with you have the potential to release you from past conditioning, find more love for yourself in this moment, and give you a glimpse into the wisdom of future events.

However, we must warn you that this system is vast and deeply profound. You will learn to read the symbols in this book, but to unlock the full magic of the full Healer's Code you will want to go deeper into the mechanics of the system. At the time of writing this booklet we teach healer's to use this system through the Healer's Code Academy. If you would like to learn more, please email hello@mattandjoy.org for more information and next steps. The academy will give you all of the tools that you need to understand yourself and others in precise detail. There is a map for your life that was written for you before you born. With a more intricate understanding you can reveal the events unfolding in a single minute, hour, week, year, or lifetime. With a light heart and open mind you can awaken profound abilities to experience an extraordinary life that may feel like magic. Yet, we promise you, this wisdom is no more magic than the Universe itself.

As our students remind us over and over again, "You just can't make this stuff up."

In Thanks...

Thank you. This book is dedicated to the thousands of clients, students and friends who have spent countless hours exploring the possibilities and potentials that lie within the Healer's Code. It's as if our ancestors have reached across time to help us fulfill a purpose that is multigenerational, thousands of years in the making, and ready for manifestation. To live in peace, love and creation is available to us all and we have a map showing us the way. We have been called to walk the path, carry the torch, and awaken humanity - together as one.

PART ONE: THE NUMBERS

The Joker

The Zero is not a frequency in the way that the other numbers are. The Zero is the mother and the father of all creation and is the birth place for all potentials. It is not represented by a single experience, rather, it is all of them. This makes zero unknowable and yet so intimately familiar that we cannot not-know either. We simultaneous understand everything and nothing. This is the wisdom of the zero that is embodied in the symbol of the Joker. When the Joker is near all order is lost and pure potential is in our grasp.

For this reason, we do not play with the Book of Life with the Joker included. When the Joker is in the deck it render the reading invalid. The information revealed cannot and should not be interpreted as accurate. Instead you are being played and often misled by the cards when the Joker is near. This is because the Joker cannot reveal a single potential as he sees all potentials.

When you see the 0 arise in your daily life it is always an invitation to return to the infinite Divine oneness and start from scratch. It is time to release what you thought should or would happen and invite in the possibilities you have yet to discover. Your invitation is to be open, to be curious, to be unknowing, and to be willing to see anything that arises so that you might create something that the world has not yet seen. Your journey is about to begin.

1 The Frequency of One

The frequency of One is the guide at the begin of every journey. The One directs us to find others, allies and foes, along the way; all of whom are a reflection of the Self discovering it's mind, it's heart, it's pleasures, and it's purpose.

The One is the frequency of the "Joker" once he steps out of the infinite oneness on a journey for higher potentials. The One remembers being one with all that is, but feels independent, isolated and separate from something or someone. The One longs for more love, connection and experience and so it journeys out for more.

When the #1 arises in your experience you are being directed to listen for your hearts true desires. What journey do you want to be on? What do you want to create? Who do you choose to be? What do you choose to feel? to experience? Will you give your value to the world? Will you receive value in return? Will you stay lost in contemplation or will you venture forward? Will you heed the call to be, do and experience more?

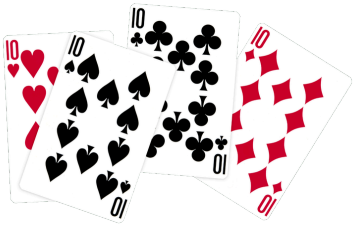

When the #1 is accompanied by the #0 to make a 10 you are being reminded how far you have come and that it is time to fulfill your dream at a new higher level. The beginning has become the end only to awakening you to a new beginning. You have been brought back to yourself to make a decision about whether you will have more of this experience. You are guided to choose again and this time, choose to be an expression of the self you have become, not the self you once were. It is time to witness your own evolution.

Keywords: self, I am, begin, give, receive, between, fresh, new, possible, death/birth/re-birth, babies, seeds, starting points, gifts

One in the Book of Life

The One shows up for us in the Book of Life through the numbered cards as the Ace of Hearts, the Ace of Clubs, the Ace of Diamonds, and the Ace of Spades. The One evolves with us and arises as the 10 of each suits as well. Take out each of the Aces and the 10s in your deck of Playing Cards. Take a few minutes to look at each one. Observe what you notice about the cards and record anything you notice. What do you notice about the placement of the symbols? What do you notice different about the Ace and the 10? Look at the space between the symbols. Do you notice any intuitive insights?

The Frequency of Two

The frequency of Two guides us to come into union with others through our choices. As the Self continues it's discovery in love, health, wealth and purpose the two invites symbols in the form of other humans, animals, plants, numbers and shapes to assist in the understanding of who they are. The two invites the decision and integrity to choose who, what, when, where, and why you will travel in a direction.

Will you choose to believe that the material things and people outside of you know what is right for you or will you choose to trust your own wisdom? What will you learn about yourself in your experiences with others?

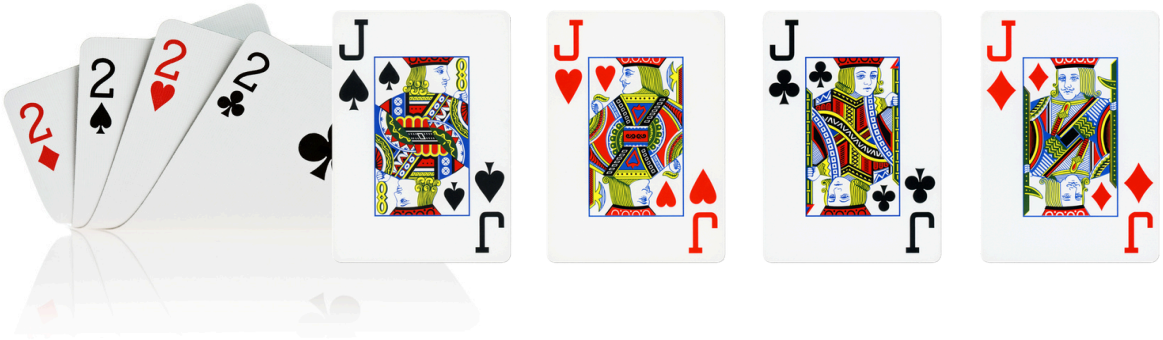

The two is like the pied piper playing a beautiful tune that intoxicates you, to join paths with another, only to lead to a mirror of yourself. The two brings you exactly who and what you need to help you see what it is that you truly believe, perceive and are attached to experiencing. The two will show you if you if you are being led by illusions or truth. The two will show you if you are being led by fear or safety, hate or love, war or peace. The two will reveal your true nature and the vibration of what you are attracting at this time.

The two helps you fulfill the intentions, desires, and dreams you hold within you. The dreams need not be spoken, your body holds the wisdom of your unconscious and conscious thoughts and feelings. These thoughts and feelings activate the Law of Attraction through resonance and your reality begins to manifest before your eyes.

When you see the #2 you are being nudged to choose again. Either more of the same or something different. You are being nudged to progress on your journey by aligning with energies that will not make it easier for you experience what you desire. You are being invited to notice who is around you. You may be ignoring support that has arrived or you are spending time with people who are no longer aligned with your journey. Either way, it is time to consider the impact of these connections and empower yourself to decide your own fate rather than give yourself over to chance.

3 The Frequency of Three

The frequency of Three is the energy of pregnancy. The three guides the creative incubation of your idea, your vision, your intentions while you nurture them into a more stable form where they have enough energy, systems, and structure to live on their own, outside of your mind-body. The three says, "your dream is now viable, but will take abundant care." Our creations are most sacred when the three is present. The three indicates kinetic potential of whatever you have been giving your energetic attention to.

When the farmer has been tending to the soil, planting seeds for food, and nurturing the field daily, the intention for growth can be fulfilled. It is now up to the Universe to align with the intentions of the farmer, the seeds, the land and the legacy of those they will feed. A co-creation is initiated and the outcome will be aligned with the strongest energetic will.

As humans you do your part by loving and believing and faithfully serving the intention. The outcome is out of your control, unless you choose not to participate at all and abandon the intention.

The three indicates what is being amplified and co-created. The three is the messenger for the universe, heralding a successful beginning. This is why the first three months of a human pregnancy are so sacred. Until the Mother, the baby, and the body are fully aligned with the Universe the pregnancy is uncertain.

It is the same with any creation. Until your mind, heart, body and Universe have found alignment there will be no manifestation. Ultimately, the three governs amplification and abundance of what is aligned (resonant, coherent, and harmonized). This is why you may read this cards as grief or celebration, as both emotional states are related to the amplification of the thoughts someone is navigating presently. The three is like an adjective and requires context, either from other numbers or from the feedback of the person you are reading for. What are they experiencing? What have they been focusing their mental and emotional attention on - disappointment or gratitude?

3 in the Book of Life

The Book of Life includes the practical expression of the 3 through the numbered cards and the expansive power of the 12 through the court cards. The 12 is the higher expression of the 3, discovering creative potentials through conscious awareness and mastery of the frequency 3. The 1 + 2 come together to reveal the 3, not as a first pregnancy, but of mothering of ideas, people and experiences into maturity. The 3 in the numbered cards represent a first birth and the Queen represents what comes after the birth, the nurturing energy required to keep our dreams alive. We are encouraged not to waste our energy by giving to much or too little. Take these cards out of the deck and notice your first impressions below.

4 The Frequency of Four

The frequency of Four comes from the energy of form, bringing structure to the formless. The Four is a box that is created to hold what we desire for easier carrying and holding from one place to another or from one moment to another. It is the coming energy of coming together for a co-creative experience. The four is a container for an experience to be enjoyed for a time, cycle or season. The 4 is not meant to be contained, it is the container that requires continued change and evolution of "purpose or meaning" to thrive.

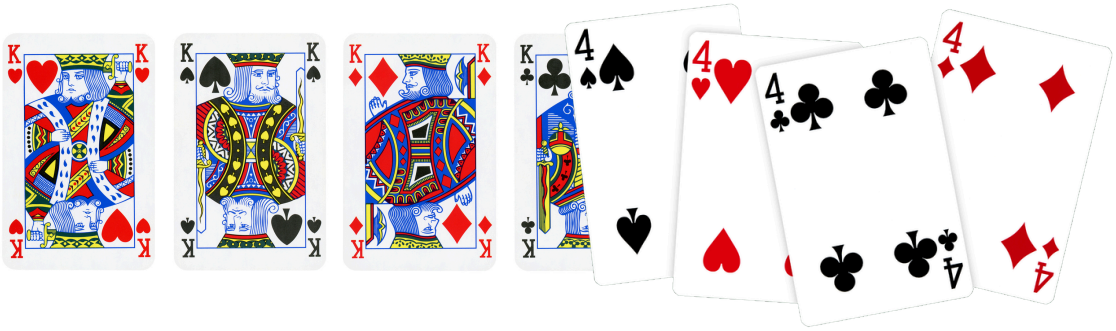

The Four is a frequency that is often misunderstood as stability. While stability is a great word to describe it, that is not quite accurate due to the fluid nature of the Four. The Four is more accurately felt as flow. Things are in movement when Four is present. The Four brings us pipes, walls, buildings, creek beds, highways, and ocean floors. These are structures that things move upon, around and between. As a result they are always changing and being changed by the movement.

Without movement the Four cannot hold its form. Look at any dilapidated building or forgotten roadway. No movement, no nurturing, no sustainability for its original meaning and so the Earth has reclaimed the space and moved in and through and around it instead. The Four often inspires people, in a physical way, to fight for, effort against loss, and toil away doing things that will allow flow without acknowledging the higher purpose of what they are doing - for the flow itself. The awakened Four recognizes that without Spirit, there is no flow and all that is built is for not. In other words, if there is no meaning or purpose behind what is built it is being built for death.

The Four helps us commit to an experience with others. In Universal Law, the Four is the decision to have the experience, not the decision to have the thing that provides the experience. The thing itself (what is built) is but a temporary coming together of material form to hold the experience and will be guided by the hand of the Universe (God, Divine or Source). If what is created comes from a decision to protect, save, hold or obscure you will experience a betrayal. If what is created comes from a decision to follow your inspiration (spirit in motion) for flow, partnership or collaboration you will experience success.

4in the Book of Life

The Book of Life includes the practical expression of the 4 through the numbered cards and the expansive power of the 13 through the court cards. The 13 is the higher expression of the 4, discovering leadership potentials through conscious focus and mastery of the frequency 4. The 1 + 3 come together to reveal the 4, not to get anything from the world, but of contributing a higher order and meaning. The 4 in the numbered cards represents building and commitment and the King represents scaling what was built to broaden the impact for more people. The four is not about things, but about what will be experienced with the things. Take these cards out of the deck and notice your first impressions below.

5 The Frequency of Five

The frequency of Five signals change as the doorway to freedom. This change can be felt in the body as stillness inspired to dance. This change can be felt in the environment as you are inspired to move or travel. This change can be felt in the community or collective as you are invited to notice new people. This change can be felt in the heart as you experience something or someone leaving your experience. This change can be felt in the form of thoughts, ideas, and perspectives as new information is integrated. The change being inspired is showing you a pathway to more freedom of expression.

The five inspires choice to help you open yourself to the experience of what you truly want. The five offers feedback about what isn't working for you in relation to your desire. Whatever it is that you want you are either open or closed to the possibility of it happening now.

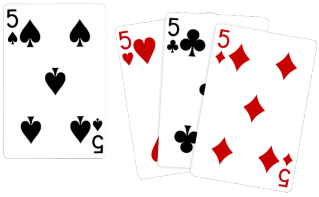

The five represents the five fingers on each hand, the five toes on each foot and the five openings in the body. Are my ears open to hear new information about my dream? Is my mouth open to nourishment? Are my hands open or closed indicating safety or defending? Are my feet prepared to move from one place to another? The five inspires movement, but usually in those places you feel the most stuck or stagnant.

For example, if you want wealth but you hold your hands closed you may be closed to giving or receiving the flow of wealth. You may be closed to the experience of life. You may need to make a new choice about how you want to experience life. Would you prefer to be open to abundance or closed. The five indicates that it is time for this change now so that you can experience your dream unfolding.

The five can be our invitation to pause and make sure we are headed in the direction we want. The five will point you to resistance in your mind, your heart and your body so that you can choose to think, feel, or do things differently.

Keywords: change, play, community, awakening, pivot, course correction, freedom, , dance, argument, confusion, loss, abandonment, neglect, fear.

5 in the Book of Life

In the Book of Life the 5 indicates the beginning of spiritual awakening. When we reach the influence of the 5 cards we are being guided to leave behind any surface level thinking, feeling and behaving to take responsibility for our next highest expression. We will no longer be content with a life happening to us and it is now time for life to happen through us. It is time to be our own catalyst of change for the story we are living, to edit the story, heal our conditions, and be our own hero - and ultimately become the creator of a new story. As a result, the 5 represents the door of awakening but fear may stop you from walking through it. These cards require courage, faith, and integrity. Only those of honest intentions will pass through. You cannot fool the Universe and the 5 is the gatekeeper. Take these cards out of the deck and notice your first impressions below.

6 The Frequency of Six

The frequency of Six is connected to the energy of the three. The six says, "were getting closer to what you want - let me show you." We begin to see evidence of what we created with the three now becoming manifest with the six. We see what we have been thinking and feeling about for a while. We now see what we have been manifesting for years alongside the early outcomes of newer manifestations. We see how the world has changed or has remained the same. We can experience the six as a repeating pattern with no end, like a loop in time, a broken record, or a pattern of fixed beliefs.

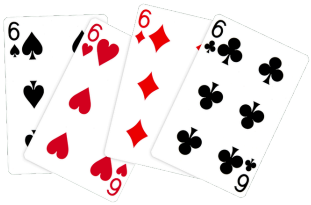

The six is often associated with karma due to the underlying purpose as the revealer of inner truths. You cannot deny your inner thoughts when you the fruits of your labors lie right in front of you. What you have been manifesting is here, undeniable and asking for your attention. The six is asking you to give meaning to what you see. Do you love it and want more of it or is it time to consider a change?

The six does not care what you decide the meaning will be, instead it seeks only to reveal it to you so that you can progress to whatever is next. The six is the messenger that indicates a choice is coming. Will you choose to continue this way or that way? The six governs the present moment and the willingness to integrate your past experiences and future dreams into a conscious moment of the "now." The Universe wants you to know that to have what you want you must accept that you have it. You must feel it and experience it now.

Will you see the world from a higher perspective or continue on as is? Will you take responsibility for your role in creation and really look at what you have created? Am I attached to what I think I can see? What about the sides of this situation I can't see? If I could see this situation from a higher view, would I change my mind more easily? This is the invitation of the six, to see what is and to accept that more than what you see is also here. Imagine a 6 sided cube. What you see is based on your viewpoint. If all you can see it the front of the cube you may only perceive three sides and yet, there are three sides out of view, not to mention the infinite potential of what may be inside.

Keywords: harmony, family, higher perspective, attachment, co-dependance, love, nostalgia, arrival, outcome, beauty, acceptance, forgiveness, gratitude.

6 in the Book of Life

The Book of Life demonstrates the 6 through each of the four suits. The six is now showing us a reality beyond what we can see with our eyes, hear with our ears, taste with our mouths, or touch with our hands. The requires an evolution of possibility through the acceptance of the unseen. The 6s invite us to accept our new reality and integrate this new perspective. What we couldn't see before is now coming into view and there is more still that is unseen. We are in a constant state of evolution and integration. There is always time to integrate new perspectives and find peace and ease with the changes. We will be on the move again soon, so take heart, nurture yourself, and gather resources for what is next. 7 The Frequency of Seven

"Trust your intuitive heart." - Ram Dass

The frequency of Seven feels like a test of faith or a challenge presented by the Universe to get to the next stage of your journey. In many ways this is true, but it is not the Universe testing you, it is you calling yourself higher and the Seven is your sign to trust. This is the frequency of the "up-level." Like the sword in the stone, only those who trust and believe in themselves; only those who are acting with honest intentions, will succeed in removing the stone (the obstacle) and claiming the throne (the dream, goal, or outcome).

The Seven is letting you know that there is a choice in front of you, to keep going in the direction of your intentions, your values, and what you hold as truth even if it looks like you won't succeed. You can have what you want now, but you must travel on faith, moving in only one direction, from this point forward. Keep doing what you have been doing. Keep believing your dream is here. Keep loving the journey and do not let fear rise up or distractions pull you away.

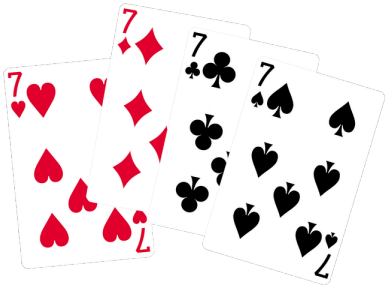

When you take the next step you will build faith and trust in yourself that will propel you toward your dream experiences. The Seven indicates that you are almost there, but there is just a bit more road to travel and you will have to face the reasons that have held you back before. The number 7 has been used as a reminder of the cycle of growth and the stages of belief that must be overcome for us to succeed. The 7 Dwarfs, the 7 planets, and the 7 sins were are metaphors for the Divine Timing cycle that challenges us with 7 different obstacles or tests of faith. Will we be too sleepy to do what's needed? Too grumpy? Too bashful? and so on...

Do not let the temptation of defending your old story, the fear of losing what you have already built, or the uncertainty of what is to come on this new path divert your attention from your dream. Hold steady.

The Seven is one of the most Divine numbers in the Book of Life as this is the frequency of intuitive growth and spiritual mentorship. You are reminded now that you are in partnership with the Universe and there is nothing to fear. You are being guided and the Divine walks beside you. You cannot see the work being done on your behalf or the support that is all around you but you can feel it and know the Divine presence within and around you.

7 in the Book of Life

The Book of Life brings the frequency of Seven through each of the suits. Each one evokes trust that is present or absent with yourself, those around and the path ahead. You may feel like there are multiple directions, but if you look closely at the cards you will see only one way to go. The Seven asks us to release our reliance on the outside world altogether and to put our faith in something higher. Take these cards out of the deck and notice your first impressions below.

8 ∞ The Frequency of Eight

The frequency of Eight is often felt with a sense of speed, urgency, or intensity. The Eight is acceleration, momentum, and constancy. This energy feels like it could go on like this forever, but it won't. You can get lost in an activity you love when the Eight is near. Hours could pass in what feels like minutes. You can feel a sense of time running out or that there are not enough hours in the day for everything that needs to get done.

This intensity can be felt as too much or not enough. Both are flipsides of the same coin. You are simply nearing completion. You are near the point of fulfillment and have taken this task, or experience near to the end. Whatever manifestation you have been creating, you will soon see the benefits of your time. You will soon discover if what you have been creating has been worth the time and attention.

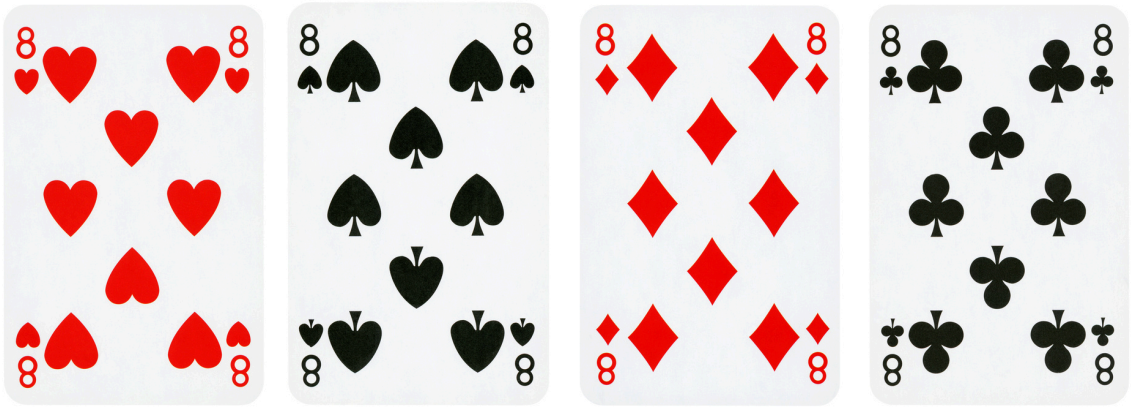

When the Eight arises you may already feel how close you are to what is next. You can feel a project coming to an end or coming to an evolution. What you are doing can only go on for so long before it will change. The Eight is the inertial force that amplifies the impact of the energy you are expending. Every action you take is being multiplied by the Universe and you can expect to harvest your results soon.

The Eight in love is the intensity of emotions that have reached a peak state and will soon change, helping you to harmonize and integrate to a new level of comfort and ease. You may be entering a new stage in a relationship or a relationship may be ending.

The Eight in career is the creation of products that will soon be taken to market to be sold. The Eight in wealth is a long term investment that may now be doubling in value. The Eight in a spiritual context is the creation of impact that is spreading to more people, more places, and in more ways.

8 in the Book of Life

The Eight in the Book of life is seen in each of the four suits of the deck. Notice the pattern of the symbols and the space they take up. The Eight brings fullness and capacity and power to any reading. The Eight represents the feeling of closure and completion that is fast approaching. The Eight is like the sunset at the end of the day. Sometimes we wish the day would never end and other times we can't wait to close our eyes and begin again. Take these cards out of the deck and notice your first impressions below.

9 The Frequency of Nine

The frequency of the Nine is the final stream of consciousness in our series and is the frequency that brings us back to Zero. The Nine offers, first and foremost, a reflection of the journey we have just been on. Who did we become? What did we learn? Are we satisfied, fulfilled, and complete or do we feel restless, lacking, and depleted?

The Nine offers us a choice point. Will we continue on the same path for an expanded version of what is or will we abandon our time, attention and focus on what was so that it can be returned to the Universe for other uses? Will we hold on or let go?

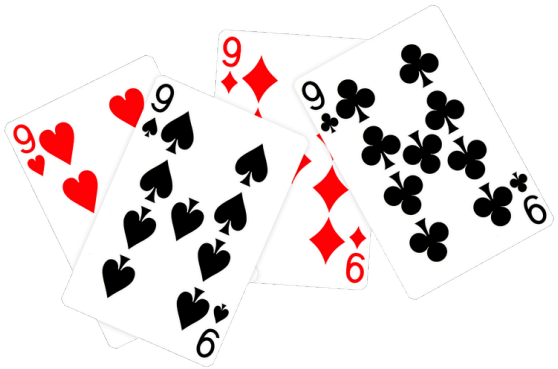

Whatever our decision we are also asked to retain the wisdom so that it may be applied to journey ahead, whatever that journey may be. Are we grateful for what we have experienced? Are we caught in our Ego or our Higher Mind? Do we value ourselves or do we seek value through or from others? Do we love ourselves or do we seek love from others? Do we trust in the path ahead?

How we each navigate the energies that came before this one - especially the Five and the Seven will now be reflected in our experience of the Nine.

Nine is the Uroboros Snake that consumes it's own tale, symbolizing a cycle is complete. The Nine is the graduation of an experience or stage of life. The Nine is the return to self. The Joker ventured out on a path to discover itself more and has now reached the journey's end and a time of reflection. What did I learn? Who am I now? The Nine offers that reflection for us all. When the Nine is present we are seeing ourselves in a new way.

9 in the Book of Life

The Nine is the completion of a story that never really ends. We come to the close of one chapter only to turn the page and begin again. The direction we take from here is dependent upon which perspective we have. Was the journey worth it, are we worth it, can we keep going? The Nine reminds us that the events of this cycle must end but we can never truly escape the cycle itself. We are creators and a new journey is always fast upon the heals of this one. Don't hold on too tightly to the things and the people but grab ahold of the wisdom and forge ahead. Take these cards out of the deck and notice your first impressions below.

Exercise to Integrate 1-Card Reading

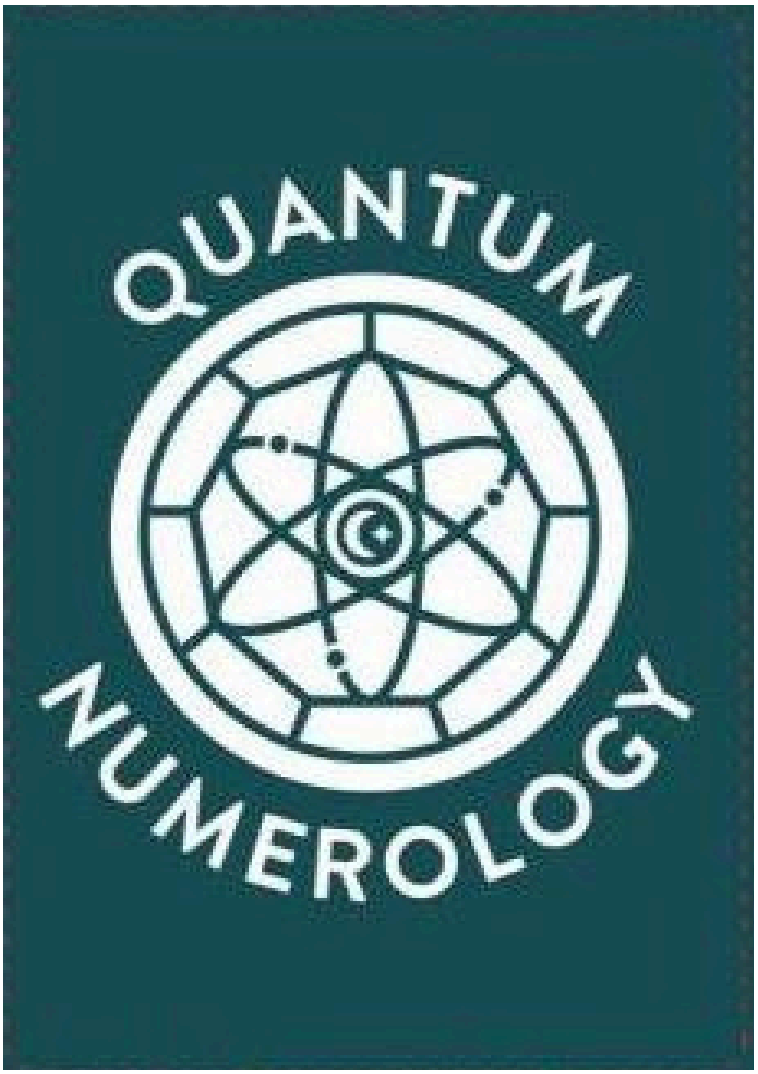

It is important to implement your learning as you go if you want to feel confident in your readings. Let's pause in our learning to apply what we know so far.

For the next 7 days shuffle your cards while thinking about a question. When you feel inspired you can either fan your cards out on a hard surface and intuitively select a card or leave your deck together and select a card from the top of the deck. Choose only 1 card this week and see what answers you can obtain from interpreting the number on the card. Just for this week ignore the suit and other symbols and focus on connecting with the intuitive wisdom of the number. Get curious about what the number can reveal to you on its own. Focus your mind on the numbers, the placement of the numbers and any first impressions you receive through your intuition. You will be amazed at just how much information can come through for you.

If you are not sure what question to ask, try the layout on the following page.

1-Card Reading
What's My Next Best Step

This card will give you a simple action step related to an area of life that you most want to experience change. Make sure you have a clear intention about what you want to create. Notice if the card is suggesting an internal, external or spiritual action. Trust your instincts and first impressions. Be sure to journal your thoughts and then check back in a few days to see if your first impressions feel accurate to you.

PART TWO: THE SYMBOLS

The 4 Rivers

In the Book of Life there are four suits: Hearts, Clubs, Diamonds & Spades. These suits govern aspects of our awakening journey from separation to unity. The story of the Book of Life goes back to the ancient city of Atlantis. According to the Order of the Magi (an ancient order devoted to preserving the Book of Life), the Egyptians learned the Book of Life from Thoth, an ancient "God" or Ruler who had ruled and guided the people during the time of Atlantis. The Atlanteans were an advanced civilization that lived in a prosperous, abundant land with 4 rivers. Between each of the rivers was a community of people led by a group of elders who maintained the sacred codes for creation. Each community held different wisdom that was shared freely between the other communities.

Each of the 4 Rivers communities lived by these codes and prospered for ages until, as legend has it, a catastrophe washed away their lands and made them un-inhabitable. The people of Atlantis then moved to Egypt and lived in peace for hundreds of years before outside forces brought greed and violence to their peaceful society. While many of the codes for creation are still hidden from humanity, the Book of Life is re-emerging as a tool for peace and prosperity through personal awakening. This is the code for "living and dying" to free yourself from the bonds of karmic suffering.

The 4 kingdoms of the 4 rivers are Self Awareness, Intellectual Knowledge, Physical Matter, and Higher Meaning. Each of these kingdoms was governed by a group of elders who helped to nurture those who were born to master each of these areas. Depending on birthdate, each child would be placed within a community to learn, grow, and carry on the teachings. Each kingdom lived by a set of virtues and values that contributed to their peace and prosperity. The information of how the Atlanteans lived was captured in the book of life, each of the 4 rivers is represented by a suit.

Self Awareness = Hearts
Intellectual Knowledge = Clubs
Physical Matter = Diamonds
Higher Meaning = Spades

To play the Book of Life in our own lives is to master the lessons of the cards in each suit, making all suits important and interconnected. No matter where we begin our journey of development we must all venture out and grow in the other areas as well. Our ancient ancestors left us clear instructions and a way of reading the suits that is precise but also allows for modern interpretation.

The 4 Rivers

In the Book of Life there are 9 core numbers (Ace-9), 4 master numbers (10-King), and four suits: Hearts, Clubs, Diamonds & Spades. These suits govern aspects of the awakening journey from separation to unity. The story of the Book of Life goes back to the ancient city of Atlantis. According to the Order of the Magi, the Egyptians learned the Book of Life from Thoth, an ancient "God" or Ruler who had ruled and guided the people during the time of Atlantis. According to Thoth (also known as Hermes) the Atlanteans were an advanced civilization that lived in a prosperous, abundant land with 4 rivers flowing freely between the communities in all 4 directions (North, East, South and West). Between each of the rivers was a community of people led by a group of elders who maintained the sacred codes for creation. Each community held different wisdom secrets that were shared freely between the other communities. The practice of honoring the 4 Gods, or 4 Directions, or 4 Energies, or 4 Rivers is maintained by the descendants of many early nations, including the Dogon, the Hopi, the Navajo, the Lakota and many more.

Each of the 4 Rivers communities in ancient Africa lived by these codes and prospered for ages until, as legend has it, a catastrophe washed away their lands and made them un-inhabitable. The people of Atlantis then moved to Egypt and lived in peace for hundreds of years before outside forces brought greed and violence to their peaceful society. While many of the codes for creation are still hidden from humanity, the Book of Life is re-emerging as a tool for peace and prosperity through personal awakening. This is the code for "living and dying" to free oneself from the bonds of karmic suffering and the cycle of reincarnation.

The 4 kingdoms of the 4 rivers are represented in the Book of Life as: Self Awareness (Hearts), Intellectual Knowledge (Clubs), Physical Matter (Diamonds), and Higher Meaning (Spades). Each of these kingdoms was governed by a group of elders who helped to nurture those who were born to master each of these areas.* Depending on birthdate, each child would be placed within a community to learn, grow, and carry on the teachings. Each kingdom lived by a set of virtues and values that contributed to their peace and prosperity. This information has been captured in the book of life and is accessible to all who seek.

To play the Book of Life in your own life is to master the lessons of the cards in each suit, making all suits important and interconnected. No matter where you begin your journey of development you must venture out and grow in all areas with a devoted heart to your Spiritual, Higher, Divine, or God-Self. Our ancient ancestors left clear instructions and a way of reading the suits that is precise but also allows for modern interpretation and application.

Note: the Dogon, in Africa, use this same method of governance today and are a thriving population of an estimated 400,000-800,000 people.

The 4 Rivers: A Closer Look

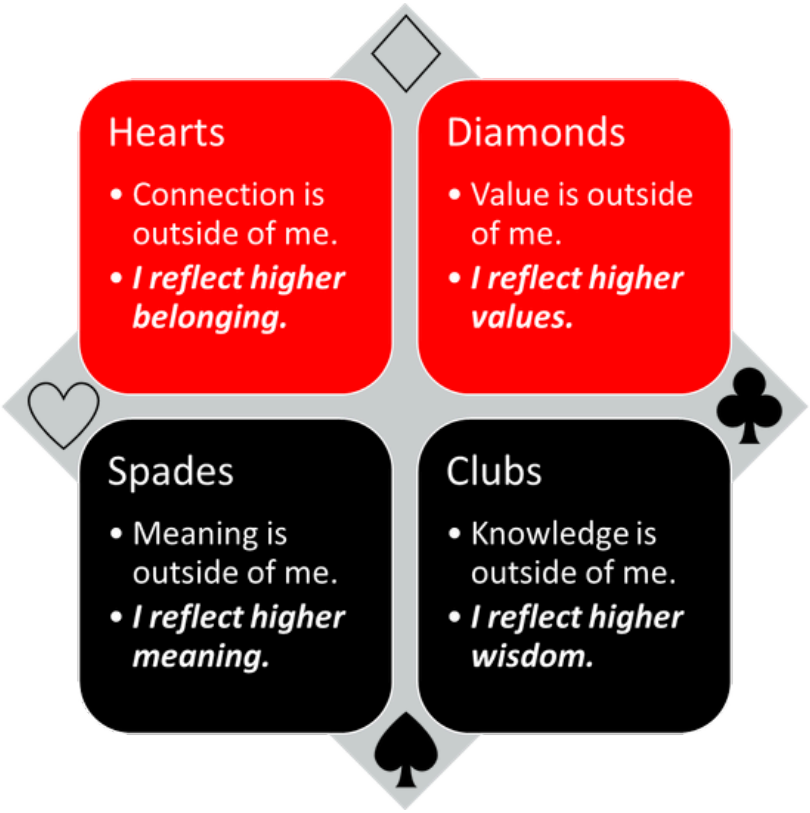

Each of the suits offers a lower and higher perspective of potential for your interpretations. To read the messages of the cards, we must be aware of the context. What is our client wanting to understand? Is our client aware of the potential growth available? Does our client believe she is separate from herself? Does our client believe he is separate from spirit? Does our client believe he is separate from what he wants? Does our client believe she is separate from her purpose?

The lower side of the cards reflects the un-initiated mind that believes everything is outside of itself. The higher side of the cards reflects the initiated mind that knows that everything is happening as themselves. However there is a spectrum of belief systems in-between these perspectives, representing the awakening mind moving from a state of separateness to wholeness (unity).

These stages are:

Life is happening to me (lower)
Life is happening for me (raising)
Life is happening through me (raising)
Life is happening as me (higher)

Now, let's take a look at the lower and higher sides of each suit:

What the Suits Mean

To read the cards we begin with numbers. We interpret the meaning of the number of the card first and then we layer in the awareness of the suit. The suit will tell us more about the specific characteristics and life areas that our client is being challenged or blessed by. Once we understand the suit of the card we then apply that to the position of the card and filter our interpretations by the questions we are asking of the cards and the meaning of the position in the layout. This helps us take the infinite possible interpretations down to the specific details that help to answer our question. You will notice that your intuition will pull your attention to certain aspects of each card. The more you learn about the card the more you will enhance your ability to focus, but your intuition will always be the most important part of your reading. Be alert to your internal desires and the difference between what you "hope the card means" and what your intuition is pointing you to see or feel or understand.

Your skill with reading will develop over time so remember to be patient and balance your intellectual study of the cards with practice and developing trust. A balanced reader has skill in the mechanics of the system, the intellectual background of the system, personal experience with the system, and the intuitive filter of the higher mind.

The suits have a natural order, also called the Natural Book of Life. Remember to remove the Joker from the deck before using your cards for any reading. Once removed the natural order begins with the suit of Hearts, followed by the suit of Clubs, followed by the suit of Diamonds, and finally, the suit of Spades. This is the suggested order of our conscious awakening and personal development. However, many people focus their journey on the mental, emotional and physical aspects of life and have little experience with the higher self (intuitive/spiritual) aspects. This is often the area of growth of most people, but requires self awareness.

In the third chapter of our journey will will talk more about how our birthdate influences the context of a reading and pathway for self awareness for each individual. For now we will keep our focus on each of the suits and assume a general preference for most people to perceive success in their minds (Clubs), their relationships (Hearts), and the body/environment (Diamonds).

The following pages will tell you more about each suit from an intellectual exploration. Add what you discover to practical experience with the deck and you will discover a whole new world of power and potential is opened to you and to those you read for!

The Hearts

Hearts invite us to discover ourselves through our relationships with others. We begin our discovery through the initial impulse to understand ourselves and our most personal desires. We desire emotional/feeling states. We want to feel good, happy, significant, joyful, nourished, and so forth. We seek comfort, love and play. When we pull a heart card in a reading we are being pointed back to the first relationship we experienced at birth, the one with us. We discovered our needs and reached out to the world for our needs to be met. Depending on the response we received, we learned to sooth ourselves or to rely on others.

Career, while not the main focus of the suit, can call in the heart cards for guidance. When the hearts arise in a career question it is often feedback about how you feel about the career question. Do you feel safe, seen, or fully understood? Do you feel passionate and fulfilled from within or do you believe this career will be the source of your fulfillment? Do you understand your own worth or is this career a mirror for the worth you hope to feel? Some of the careers associated with the hearts are relationship or dating coaches, actors, performers, care-takers, volunteers, rescue or aid workers, and fields that are hands on with others.

In relationships, we are learning to see ourselves through our expectations and perceptions of others. Are we looking for all of our emotional needs to be met by another? This leads to suffering, so the hearts remind us to come back to how we can give ourselves what we need to show up in relationship whole. The hearts will invite you to look at relationships through this wholeness to discover if you are experiencing a relationship based on co-dependence, attachment, or fear. If so, you will be guided to explore inter-dependence (2 whole beings coming together), interconnection, and unconditional love. Hearts can also be an indication that groups of people are important to the context of your query.

To pull a heart when asking about health, the effects of isolation, loneliness, or relationship wounds are the likely cause. We may have an emotional trauma (past or current) that is in need of our attention. Unprocessed grief is often associated with the suit of hearts. From a practical perspective we may experience a host of physical conditions often related to the heart, blood or immunity disorders, the nervous system, and the reproductive system..

The Hearts

In regards to a money or wealth question, hearts are indicative of passion and our relationship with money in our lives. Do we love how we are relating to money. Do we feel victimized, bullied or controlling with money. It's time to elevate or celebrate our relationship with money when the hearts arise in any reading.

Spiritually speaking, hearts represent the potential for self love being experienced at new, deepening levels through our experiences with the Divine, in ourselves and all living beings. To see others in our life as spiritual and deserving of love is a breakthrough in itself.

The Clubs

Clubs invite us to explore our relationship with our minds and the impact it has on our lifestyle, career, and personal expression. The Clubs represent the intellectual impact and the nature of our belief systems. What we think about how we feel, what we see, and what we experience is the domain of the clubs.

Career is a significant focus for this suit. as our thoughts about feelings lead to inspiration for action. What we want to contribute, how we want to contribute, and whether we feel capable of contribution is closely linked with this suit. Clubs point us to explore our thoughts, what we believe, what we learn, what we teach, what we speak, what we write, and how we choose to experience ourselves as creators. Keywords here: Information, Memory, Intelligence, Intuition, Communication, Expression, Tradition, or Orthodox.

This isn't about our physical capabilities, rather, our mental perceptions about them. What do we believe is right and wrong? What do we believe is realistic? What do we believe is valuable or virtuous? What do we believe is expected of us? As a career expression, clubs often point to educators, academics, science, medicine, engineering, mathematics, law, government or politics, writing, speaking and other intellectual pursuits, fields or areas of expertise.

To pull a club in your reading is to be invited to consider your beliefs related to the question at hand. Are you being invited to pursue them, change them, or expand them? Clubs can also indicate commitment to an idea or a time to committing to expressing in the physical world in general. Is your thought worth your time and attention to bring it into manifestation? In a practical sense, a club can mean a meeting, conversation or piece of information is going to play a role in the answer to our question.

In relationships, clubs indicate a meeting of the minds, arguments, conversations, collaborations, teams, and contracts. Clubs invite us to explore how we relate to others points of view, values and belief systems. Are we open or fixed in our approach with others? Are we open to learning? Are we teachable? Do we need to be right in our relationships? Are we in it to win it or do we believe in the value of collaboration and mutual benefit?

The Clubs

To pull a club when asking about health can be an indication that we need more information or need to seek the advise of an expert or professional. We may be experiencing a mental challenge or a condition in the body based in belief. Stress, anxiety, and worry are chronic conditions associated with Clubs. Headaches, overwhelming thoughts, toothaches, and sore throats are common manifestations that Clubs represent.

In regards to a money or wealth question, clubs often indicate speculation, investing, gambling, stocks or bonds, trade, intellectual property, or funds from a court case, or money received from other intellectual pursuits. Money will often flow through your career or other lifestyle choices. Your lifestyle is a reflection of your beliefs about money or how you make money. You may have a belief that all money must come from a plan, a probable source, or from a traditional job. You may feel attached to knowing how money will come and may not embrace the natural law of infinite possibility.

Spiritually speaking, clubs are the invitation to activate your higher mind or intuition in your day to day experiences. Wisdom is not limited to what you know, it is merely a way of categorizing what we have known so far. Spirit offers us unlimited information, available at anytime to enhance and expand our perspectives. This can also be an indication of a higher calling for expression or to use your intelligence for religious or spiritual purposes.

The Diamonds

Diamonds invite us to experience our thoughts and emotions as physical events. We are learning to interact with physical creations that have been inspired by a co-creation between ourselves, others and the Universe. We see, feel, touch, and taste our thoughts as they materialize in the physical world. We receive feedback from the physical world to help us create more, new and expanded "things."

Diamonds govern the world of the ten thousand things. The Taoists say the physical world is made up of mental distractions on display for everyone to see. A busy physical world indicates a busy mental world and a peaceful world a peaceful mind. This sums up the Diamonds wonderfully. The Diamonds are merely a reflection, yet most querants focus solely on how to manipulate, control, or create in physical form by focusing on the physical alone. The physical can only be experienced and perceived. Any changes to the physical form are fleeting and temporary without also changing the thoughts and feelings that create them.

Clubs, while not always about career, are often associated with success. Outcomes are the domain of the Diamonds suit. When building a career, fulfillment and success is often seen as the reward for hard work. We tend to believe that if "I have been working hard I should be receiving desirable outcomes." Because this is not a true measure of success, this perceptions often leads to suffering. Material outcomes alone ignore the importance or love, personal achievement and higher purpose. As a result, outcomes are often empty in the world of the material. Careers focused on the money usually end in sacrifice in other areas of life. Some careers associated with the Diamonds suits are builders, mechanics, surgeons, pharmaceutical, supplements, business owners, retail, corporate, financial institutions, or organizations associated with sports and travel.

To pull a Diamond in your reading is to be invited to explore your relationship with the physical environment - your body, your home, your community and nature. Do you feel comfortable in this world of things. Do you enjoy things or resist them? Do you allow yourself time to explore what you have created? Do you celebrate the feedback you receive? Do you commune with nature and explore what you can learn from others' creations (other people and the Universe)?

The Diamonds

In relationships, Diamonds indicate physical attraction, sexual expression, contracts, sales, partnerships. Diamonds can also point to legally binding relationships such as marriage, business partners, divorce, termination agreements, or parenting agreements. Diamond relationships are physical and contractual. Love is not the focus of the answer when Diamonds arise as the answer to a relationship question. The Diamonds offer practical feedback about how the physical attributes of a situation are or will be important.

To pull a Diamond in regards to health can be an indication to look at a physical solution or physical cause of a condition. You may have injured yourself or are experiencing a superficial wound. You may be building or healing the body. You may be training for sports events or physical feats. Your body may be experiencing the outcome of what you have been thinking and feeling. The physical signs of beliefs are present in your body. You may be focused on physical solutions rather than emotional or spiritual solutions. Bones, skin, teeth, hair, muscles, tissue and physical appearance are common health associations with Diamonds.

In regards to a money or wealth question, diamonds often indicate how we demonstrate our wealth to others. They can refer to clothes, houses, cars and other external goals we have for our money experience. A Diamond card showing up in your reading will be associated with the physical outcome and attributes of your question. Money in hand is indicated when a Diamond shows up. Depending on the number and your question, this can be the absence of or the fulfillment of money.

Spiritually speaking, diamonds indicate the physical experiences we use to help us awaken to a spiritual understanding. Journaling, plant medicine, ceremonies, sage, crystals or divination tools are all associated with the Diamonds suit in a spiritual question. What are the tools we choose for our spiritual journey? How can the physical world help us journey within and feel safe in our bodies and lives. Without physical safety we will not venture into the deeper world of meaning.

The Spades

Spades invite us to discover the deeper meaning of things, people, and experiences. Here we evolve out of the will of the lower mind of survival and into the higher mind of higher understanding, reason, and meaning. In the Spades we discover a bigger purpose for our lives and we explore the existential questions. Pulling a spade in a reading is an invitation to see the situation from a higher perspective, a bigger purpose, or to consider the larger impact of your experience or choices. To pull a spade in your reading is to be invited to raise your conscious awareness to something beyond what you are currently thinking, feeling or experiencing.

Career, while not the main focus of the suit, is a theme for the spades. Spades love working and are willing to dig deeper to find the answers to things. Spades, while found in almost every line of work, are often associated with coaches, mentors, teachers, counselors, healers, shamans, spiritual guides and other similar careers.

In relationships, spades indicate a greater purpose for the union or time together. This relationship may be a catalyst for awakening. You can be sure that this will be a relationship with a big impact.

To pull a spade when asking about health can be an indication of a hereditary or chronic condition that plays a significant role in the purpose of your life. The condition you are experiencing is teaching you something and you may want to listen carefully to the message. Your condition is likely coming from another area of life that is out of sync. Address that area of life and you will often see the health condition change on it's own. Other cards in the reading can show you what area of life may be out of sync.

In regards to a money or wealth question, spades often indicate a time when focusing on a higher meaning for why you want the wealth is more important than the practical aspects of wealth creation. Money flow is being dictated by a higher purpose, related to an intention that is more important to you than money.

Spiritually speaking, spades are the invitation for the spiritualization of any situation.

Other Playing Card Symbols

The Book of Life includes other symbolism that helps to provide deeper context for the interpretation of your card reading. Below are other symbols you may see on your playing cards and some of their collective meanings. Be sure to note what you discover about their meanings as you experience them for yourself.

Club - Kingdom of Knowledge
Spade - Kingdom of Higher Meaning
Heart - Kingdom of Love
Diamond - Kingdom of Physical

Crown - Level of Authority Based on Height and Detail of Crown

Flower - Peace, Prosperity, Growth and Love

Sword or Weapon - Protection and Physical Power

Wand or Scepter - Mental Focus and Power

Triangles - The Trinity of Mind, Body and Spirit

Leaves - Humility, Generosity and Grace

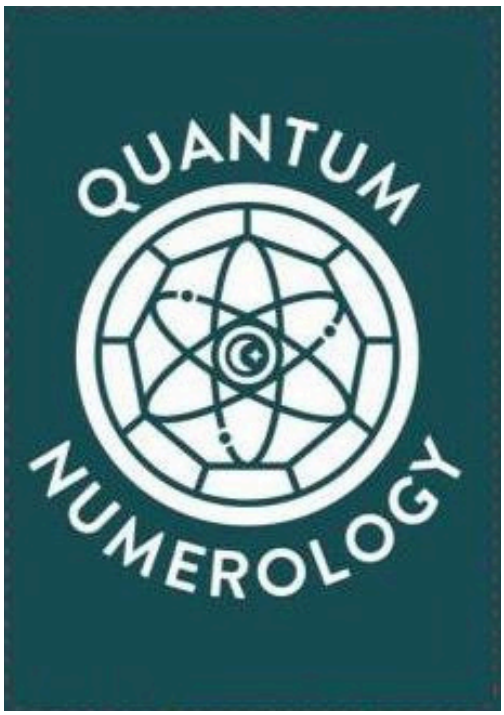

Hands - Empty hands indicate readiness for the unknown and receiving, while filled hands indicate fullness and a readiness to give or share.

Head - The Head pointed left indicates a focus on the past, the previous suit, or the receptive principles. The Head pointed right indicates a focus on the future, what's beyond the current suit, or power principles. The Head looking up or down indicate either a spiritual or material focus. The Head looking straight forward on the card indicate a focus on the present moment or oneness.

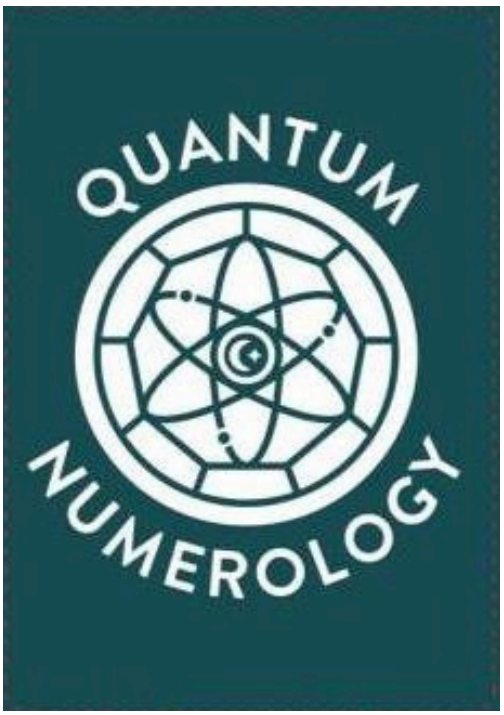

Black - Night, Introspection, Inner Journey
Red - Day, Extroversion, Outer Journey
Yellow - Neutral Focus, Forgiveness, Compassion

How the Suit Expresses Itself

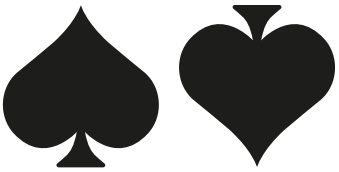

The Hearts represent the fullness of love available to all, limitlessly, that pours down into the self when we are in the high-side of the suit. The love in me is the only love that is available to me. When I am looking for love outside of myself I pinch off the flow from the Universe and experience a depletion of flow and a longing to get love from outside of me.

The Clubs represent the awareness of pattern, thought and mind. The shape is a reflection of the heart, filled with love, opening up to acknowledge the connection to the mind as a third semi-circle in the original heart shape. The heart flips upside down and expand to make space for the brain and the intellect. What you love, the mind will now bring about into the physical experience. When we get out of sync with ourselves the mind tries to tell the heart what to feel and this creates chaos.

The Diamonds represent the world of matter and value that humans interpret as the physical world. The matter outside of you is an expression of what matters inside you. When you experience a Diamond It's time to see the reflection of your mind and heart in the mirror. You cannot change the mirror by altering the mirror, that is only a distortion. The high and low side look the same - always a mirror of you.

The Spades merge the hearts, the clubs, and the Diamonds into a single shape that now channels the wisdom of all of them into a single focus of attention. When a spade arises, take what you have learned so far and imagine bringing it all together and expressing it just a bit higher, more expansive, more focused than before.
